EPOD ANNOUNCES THE WORLD'S FIRST TALKING PHOTO BOOTH

SAN DIEGO, CA, MAY 15, 2010:

As San Diego heads into the busy wedding season, ePod Events introduces the world's first talking photo booth. Inspired by the Jay Leno sketch, a former Cruise Director and entertainment expert (Christian Shimer) teamed up with an engineering genius (Neil Torr) to create the world's first talking photo booth called the ePod. The name comes from "e" for entertainment and "Pod" instead of booth, to reflect its modern design.

As you preview your pose on a large touch-screen, a voice guides you through the session. After each photo the ePod teases those inside using its own voice, a movie clip or sound effect which is chosen based upon their pose. For example, if you've stuck out your tongue, the ePod teases you about it. This customizes each photo session's performance to the occupant, which ensures better photos and added entertainment value. It's also a whole lot of fun.

What's more, rather than being disappointed when a home-made box arrives to spoil a well planned decor, the ePod is designed to be a work of art. Its figure-eight shape and dark wood is ultra modern, elegant and goes great with any wedding design scheme.

If you would like to share your photo booth high-jinx with the world, included in the package is a DVD with complete digital images from the event and a free, web-ready music-video-montage created from the most entertaining photos.

In an age when getting value for your money is a prerequisite, ePod Events offers more value for the same entertainment dollar. For those wanting a photo booth at their wedding but haven't found one which meets your high expectations, the ePod will meet and exceed them without breaking the bank.
